

Investigative Analyses

Protect against cybercriminals with investigative analyses that map out your target's entire network.

Take down criminal networks with LegitScript investigative analyses.

LegitScript will piece together your target's entire network — from associated domain names and internet infrastructure to information about individuals involved, their scope of operations, and jurisdictional violations — so you can confidently present the information you need to support a successful case.

LegitScript investigative reports are based on three principles.

- 1 LegitScript doesn't just analyze websites in isolation; we step back to identify and map out the entire network of related websites and entities, and how they fit together.
- 2 Our investigative analyses reports are always well-written and actionable. We spell out information clearly and cite every fact so you are able to easily re-create findings to help support your case.
- 3 We back up our analyses with concrete data, including extensive DNS/Whois information. In-depth reports contain up to 92 data points on each website.

Trusted and proven, across the globe.

LegitScript has written hundreds of investigative analyses for federal agents, law enforcement, and private industries containing actionable intelligence leading directly to arrests, indictments, and convictions. Our work has supported multi-national criminal investigations, and is trusted by Interpol, the FDA, the DEA, Japan's Ministry of Health, Labor and Welfare, and others.
