

Carlos Mejia:

Team Lead, Voltron, Engineering Team

In celebration of National Hispanic/Latinx Heritage Month, LegitScript's Black, Indigenous, People of Color (BIPOC) group features a Q&A with LegitScript engineer Carlos Mejia.

Tell us about yourself and your role at LegitScript.

My name is Carlos de Jesus Mejia Morales. I am a team lead in Voltron from the engineering team. I've been with LegitScript for one year and four months.

Who's someone you admire at LegitScript and why?

Dan Corpron — he is an amazing manager and great tutor.

What is something new you learned in the last week?

I had to stabilize Elasticsearch dev test cluster for validating a script; I learned a lot about ES queries!

What is the best piece of feedback you received?

Back in the day when I was starting my career in engineering, somebody told me, "There is no perfect code. We have to be pragmatic." This helped me a lot while working on code reviews, finding the balance between coding efficiency and quality.

What's your favorite emoji to use on Slack?

:beer-cheers: (🍻) and :party-keanu-parrot: (🦜)

Finish the sentence: "On weekends you will typically find me ..."

Playing video games with my family or going out for dinner :)

When I was young...

With family...
